OBJECTIVES

The dictator Fernandez has set up eight bases to secure the area that he has captured. It is your mission to seek out and destroy all of these bases in order to topple the dictatorship and free the land. Throughout this occupied territory there are many caches of stolen gold and prisons housing miserable POW's. You receive medals, and bonus points, for destroying buildings, recovering gold and freeing prisoners. Needless to say, there are many hostile soldiers patrolling the land who will object strongly to your intrusion, and do their utmost to exterminate you.

YOUR MISSION

You play the role of the crack-commando Harman, whose job it is to assassinate the tyrannical dictator Fernandez and the 8 members of his evil Junta. Whilst battling your way through the enemy stronghold, you must also try to free your comrades taken prisoner and held in the Prisoner-of-War camps found scattered around the complex.

YOUR EQUIPMENT

You are armed with both a machine gun and rocket launcher (since vehicles and gun emplacements can only be destroyed by rockets). Jeeps you drive are similarly equipped. You carry a supply of high explosive, and you must use this to blow the doors of the prisoner camps, banks (and safes within), armouries, Junta HQ, and other assorted buildings in the stronghold.

YOUR OPPOSITION

The enemy troops are armed with automatic rifles, and are supported by machine gun emplacements, tanks, trains, patrol boats and armoured trucks.

THE SCREEN DISPLAY

The icons at the top of the screen represent your lives remaining, the explosives you are carrying, the number of Junta you have successfully assassinated, the number of hand-held rockets you are carrying, and the number of rockets for the jeep's launcher. The jeep icon shows its damage status (when only half this icon is visible the jeep will catch fire, and then ultimately explode when it reaches zero).

THE CONTROLS

A joystick must be used to control Harman. The jeep is also controlled by joystick. The jeep handles in a manner similar to a real vehicle – it can be driven in both forward and reverse gears. The three forward gears are automatic. To change from forward to reverse gears (or vice versa), the jeep must be turned, then the joystick pushed in the required direction. The speed of the jeep will vary depending on the type of terrain over which it is being driven, or the extent of damage it has sustained.

To fire a round of ammunition, press the fire button. To fire a rocket, keep the fire button depressed and a rocket will be fired every third shot.

To enter a jeep, stand close to it and fire. To leave the jeep, waggle the joystick left and right rapidly (or press SPACE BAR). You may be unable to leave the jeep if you parked it too close to a wall or other obstacle.

To blow a door, step up to it on foot, attach the explosive by touching it to the door lock (the dynamite icon will then flash) and get well clear. The door will blow after the fuse has burnt through. Many buildings can then be entered and explored for valuable items (e.g. weaponry, and cash in safes). Pull the joystick diagonally if Harman is in the corner of a building.

If the jeep catches fire, quickly drive through the nearest car wash (found at every garage) and this will douse the flames. However, if the jeep does explode, a replacement will be found at on the next garage forecourt.

SCORING

Points are awarded for destroying troops, tanks, trucks, trains and gun-boats, and for blowing a safe.

Prisoners you have freed will run away from where you are standing, as they attempt to get away from the havoc you are wreaking. Points are awarded for each prisoner who successfully escapes off-screen.

Junta (the soldiers with full military dress in the red-cross HQ's) will make a run for it to the next HQ unless you can shoot them first. A large bonus is awarded for each member of the Junta successfully assassinated.

BEWARE . . .

Enemy troops will attempt to ambush you by hiding in trees – rocketing the tree will destroy both it and the soldier.

Level crossing barriers cannot be driven across when a train is approaching. It is possible to drive the jeep along the rails, but beware of approaching express trains. . .

Extra lives will be awarded according to your performance, both in terms of progress and points.
